

- Creates a new column
- Placed within the SELECT statement
- Creates logic
- Creates a categorical column from a numeric column

CASE ~~statement~~

WHEN condition1 THEN 'result1'
WHEN condition2 THEN 'result2'

ELSE 'default result'

END AS new-column-name

→ Given when condition1 and condition2 are not met

Aggregated Functions

- Count how many rows in a table

SELECT COUNT (*) AS number of rows
FROM table;

Counts the number of rows in a table

- He also use the COUNT() to count the unique Identifier.

- COUNT (DISTINCT ID)

used to count the number of different values in a specific column

ID
101 ✓
102 ✓
101
103 ✓

SELECT COUNT (DISTINCT ID)

FROM employees;

3